Matamores was taken and when reinforcements arrived Taylor attacked the garrison at Monterey. After a fierce fight a splendid victory resulted. The Americans overran the city and defeated the enemy in a running fight from house to house. 361--Buena Vista The best part of Taylors army was now withdrawn to go with the army of General Scott against Mexico City. The Mexicans under Santa Anna thought they could wipe out Taylor with his six thousand men. Twenty thousand Mexicans advanced against the smaller force at Buena Vista. A terrific battle ensued, which the Americans won, and the whole country around the Rio Grande was then safely in their possession. Americans at Chapultepec 362--The Third Army General Scott, with the Third Army, was sent against the City of Mexico. The troops, twelve thousand strong, were transported on ships and landed near Vera...
